Oh, Canada!

Toronto's Art Gallery of Ontario is the one and only Canadian stop for the hottest touring art exhibit in 2012: Picasso: Masterpieces from the Musée National Picasso, Paris, which opens May 1 and goes to Aug. 23. While the museum in Paris is being renovated for its reopening later this year, 150 works from the Spanish artist, spanning 75 years of his career, are roaming around the globe.

The Art Gallery of Hamilton is one of the Province's finest. It has been around since 1912 and continues to evolve. Come spring, AGH is opening a storefront with retail, event and performance space on James Street North, a shopping centre for the arts well worth exploring.

Is celebrity chef Daniel Boulud trying to take over the kitchens of Canada? The freshly renovated Ritz-Carlton Montreal is home to Maison Boulud and the new Four Seasons Yorkville (in Toronto) will have a Café Boulud when it opens in the summer.

The Calgary Stampede (July 6 to 15) hits a milestone this year - a young 100. The action continues with cowboy boots, wranglers and Stetson required

For the 2nd year in a row, the world's most illustrious cocktail festival will stop in Vancouver. Tales of the Cocktail is usually a New Orleans staple, but it hit the road for the first time last year with an event in Vancouver. It returns July 25-29.

Dine Out Vancouver returns for a 10th anniversary run from Jan. 20 to Feb. 5 with 220 restaurants offering three-course, prix fixe menus priced at $18, $28 or $38.

Can you image the skyline of Ottawa without the Fairmont Château Laurier? Not a chance. As of June 1, it will have been part of the city for 100 years.

The Ottawa Senators will host the first NHL All-Star Game to be played in Ottawa. The roster of events starts on Jan. 26 as a lead-up to the big game on Sunday, Jan. 29, at Scotiabank Place. Even if you can't make it to the game, it will be televised in more than 150 countries.

Besides Belfast, where the Titanic was built, no city has closer ties to the ill-fated ship than Halifax. As the 100th anniversary of its sinking is commemorated, the city will be the place to be with 24-related sites (including three cemeteries). Titanic100.ca
